

Briargate Welcomes Anual Car Show

The 40th anual "Old Timer" car show hid a sentimental meaning in one of its cars.

If you were cruising around the Briargate area last weekend, there is no doubt you noticed all the old cars. The 40th anual "Old Timer" car show took place on October 2nd, and closed two major intersections, Briargate and Union. Travelig north was a hassle, but engines roaring made up for the traffic issues. Regulars know Steve Hank and his 1966 Shelby 427 Cobra very well. Not many of his followers know the story behind the car. "The cobra has a special place in my heart, this specific car belonged to my father." Hank said.

The car features a 427 cubic inch engine, with a white exterior and black lether interior. Under the hood, the signiture Cobra logo can be seen. "My father always had a love for cars, he would have loved to be apart of this community." Hanks father passed due to lung cancer. All donations and admission ticket sales are distrubuted evenly to cancer research centers in Colorado.
